

Databases

Gale World History in Context: Great articles from encyclopedias, magazines, and newspapers, as well as radio interviews, and images.

EBSCO Student Resource Center: Use the Student Research Center for easy access to magazine articles, newspaper articles, primary source documents, maps and more.

Websites

Holocaust resources:

U.S. Holocaust Museum Online Exhibitions: Great online exhibitions with lots of videos, images, and interviews. Covers many topics, both large and small. The museum also has a Holocaust Encyclopedia and a good Introduction to the Holocaust.

Holocaust Survivors: A website dedicated to their stories.

Yad Vashem: Yad Vashem is a project established in 1953 to serve as the world center for documentation, research, education and commemoration of the Holocaust.

Auschwitz After 65 Years: A photo essay from TIME.

Fortunoff Video Archive: over 4,400 videos of Holocaust survivors and witnesses.

Resources on other genocides:

Preventing Genocide Blog: Run by the U.S. Holocaust Museum, this blog features articles on current events and news related to the Holocaust and other genocides.

Confront Genocide: Another project of the U.S. Holocaust Museum, this page features more information on current events and international issues related to genocide.

World Without Genocide: This page has links to films, educational plays, handouts and websites on genocide generally, and specifically on the Holocaust, Cambodia, Rwanda, Darfur, Bosnia and the Congo.

Rwandan Stories: A collection of video, photography and journalism exploring the origins, details and aftermath of the Rwandan genocide through the eyes of both survivors and perpetrators.

The Forgotten: An interactive site on the history of the Armenian genocide.

The Digital Archive of Cambodian Holocaust Survivors: A project collecting stories of survivors from the Cambodian genocide.

To find more resources, we recommend using the search engine Sweet Search, which is designed for students and only shows results that have been reviewed and endorsed by teachers.

Remember to evaluate the web pages you use! Go here for some questions you could ask.

Citation Help

Purdue OWL

Noodle Tools